Suggestion: A /radio command

1) How does it work?
By entering this command into the chat you will get this (or something which looks like it) message, usage: /radio <song name (detailed) / URL on yt>. This would then allow the player to listen to music to when they are mining or whatever they need to be doing.

2) How will it impact the game?
I find myself often in the need of listening to music while playing on the server, and it is (for me) very annoying if I have to tab out of the game just to put a new song on. With the /radio command you will be able to do this in-game, it will provide the players with a more convenient way of putting on music. This will also narrow the chance of you missing something in chat when having to tab out. Overall, it will provide a more chilled and relaxed atmosphere because people can listen to whatever they want in-game.

3) What other details about the feature can you explain?
Next to just /radio, you could add commands like:
/queue - displaying the current Que of songs. /radioparty <username> - with this you can invite people to listen to the same songs as you do. /next - skips to the next song. /back - goes back to the previous song.
/loop <number> / infinite - loops the song for a number of times or infinite.
/radiostation <number> - listen to a radio station (just a random queue of songs given in a .config file made by the admins)

Thanks for reading this, I hope that it will get accepted as a feature, not because of the money. But just because it is a really handy and cool feature to have

Good job staff team, it's a good server. Keep your heads up, good luck with everything. ♡
